Why financing makes sense

- Purchasing Power: Purchase today's technology with tomorrow's dollars.
- Free up working capital: Financing improves cash flow by enabling increased productivity while keeping your funds liquid. When you finance equipment, instead of exhausting cash accounts on fixed assets, you are free to use your capital for other income producing expenses. Unlike other forms of financing, leasing does not require a large down payment.
- Protect your line of credit: Lease payments have no impact on your bank credit lines. Leasing does not show as a liability on your balance sheet, thus preserving borrowing power for other business needs such as inventory, marketing, and payroll.
- Gain tax advantages: As a business expense, lease payments may be 100% tax deductible as opposed to only depreciation and interest deductions for bank financed equipment, resulting in a full write-off over the term of the lease.
- Lower monthly payments: Allow you to acquire additional equipment when you lease because lease payments may come out of several budget years.
